

FROM THE DESK OF THE PRESIDENT

Two Thousand Ten or Twenty Ten. Either way you say it, its' a new year. I think that we always start out the year with the best intentions, and sometime around February or March those really good intentions seem to take a back seat to reality.

I've made a resolution to gain weight this year. Now my physician may not be on board for this one since she pointed out either I was too heavy or too short for my weight. What she doesn't understand is that I seldom keep my resolutions. It would seem that if I keep up my track record of failure, I'll loose weight. We'll see if my somewhat sideways thinking has any merit.

One resolution that my fellow officers plan to keep is that this years Cup will be a huge success. We want to move something that has caused so many divisions in our club into a unifying event that is fun, inclusive, and demonstrates what team work can really look like. We're putting together teams who will be responsible for all the different aspects of the Cup. We will have the first meeting after the January Club meeting, and we're getting new people on board who will bring new excitement to the Cup.

We of course will have the National Corvette Museum represented along with our other loyal vendors, and we hope some new ones. Judging will be in the hands of people who understand what an award winning car should look like and we'll have activities planned to keep everyone interested and occupied.

So, as resolutions go I plan a 50% success rate. I will hopefully loose my unneeded weight (growing a foot seems a litle optimistic) and fail at the first resolution. Then every member of the Club will join a team to help make sure the Cup is a resounding success and I keep one resolution.

EAGLE DAYS - JANUARY 30

Clarksville, Mo is one of the notable winter Bald Eagle watching spots in the Middle Mississippi River Valley due to its proximity to locks and Dam #24, which keeps the water free of ice enabling the eagles to find fish during the cold weather. Every year Clarksville holds its annual Eagle Days on the last weekend of January. Naturalists from the Mo Department of Conservation, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the WBS set up spotting scopes, exhibits, children's activities and live eagle shows to entertain and educate the public. Local community organizations and restaurants provide plenty of good food and the shops in town are open for visitors to investigate.

Plan on joining other MMCC Members and friends for a trip to Clarksville on Saturday, January 30th. We will meet in Moberly at 8:15 am at Breaktime across from Wal-Mart. Departure will occur at 8:30 am. Plan on eating lunch in Clarksville.

GM CORVETTE RECALL

WASHINGTON - The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says General Motors is recalling more than 22,000 Chevrolet Corvettes over problems with their removable roofs, which could separate from the vehicle. The recall, which was announced this month and begins in January, applies to 2005-2007 Chevrolet Corvettes and 2006-2007 Corvette Z06's with removable roofs. The NHTSA says the adhesive between the roof panel and frame can separate, which would cause noise, poor fit and water leakage. If the adhesive completely separates, the roof panel could come off the car. Dealers will install a new roof panel free of charge for affected cars, the NHTSA said. For more information, owners can contact Chevrolet at 1-800-630-2438, or at <http://www.gmownercenter.com>. Owners may also contact the NHTSA's vehicle safety hotline at 1-888-327-4236 (TTY 1-800-424-9153) or go to <http://www.safercar.gov>.
